Brett P. Bayard, P.E., P.L.S.
Senior Design Engineer/Land Surveyor, Mader Engineering, Inc., Lafayette, Louisiana

Working first as a mechanical engineer in the oil industry, Mr. Bayard has the unusual distinction of holding professional engineering certifications in both Mechanical and Civil Engineering and he is also a registered professional land surveyor. He earned a degree in mechanical engineering in 1997 at the University of Louisiana at Lafayette and worked as a mechanical engineer for Cooper Cameron until 2000. Since joining Mader Engineering, Inc. in 2000, Mr. Bayard has translated his skills in computer-aided design and manufacturing to the civil engineering discipline, specializing in site design, downtown redevelopment, solid waste disposal and collection, wastewater collection, historic weather analysis, transportation, and operating as surveying coordinator. He also provides training to engineers and architects from Louisiana and other states, primarily regarding ADA accessible design. He is on the Board of Governors of the American Council of Engineering Companies of Louisiana and serves as the Lafayette Chapter President.
